

Invisibility Cloaks which makes you invisible

The Invisibility Cloak is in the works from Duke University. This alternative cloak uses metamaterials, or materials with strange properties.

The materials must have a smaller wavelength of than light in order for this to be effective, which is why nanotechnology is an essential part of the science. If completed as planned, the fabric would reflect light directly off the image and the object would essentially be cloaked.

Quick Bytes

LOADING INFORMATION